Paul Berge is a flight instructor, retired FAA air traffic controller and a busy aviation writer who's written for numerous magazines, including most recently, Smithsonian Air & Space. Paul is the Editor Emeritus of IFR magazine and is a regular contributor to the online magazine, AVWeb, where he also writes its monthly Brainteaser quizzes. He's published three aviation historical novels—Bootleg Skies plus its sequel, That's Life, I Guess and Inside The Circle. His non-fiction endeavors include the textbook, Private Pilot Beginner's Manual (for Sport Pilots, too), now in its 2nd Edition and used by flight schools and independent flight and ground instructors. More about Paul Berge is available on his website paulberge.com

Aaron McCartan, Captain of the US Advanced Aerobatic Team and three-time US National Aerobatic Champion (2013, 2016, 2017). Aaron's accomplishments through the International Aerobatic Club (IAC) have earned him four 'master trophy' awards in the IAC Hall of Fame and EAA Museum in Oshkosh, Wisconsin. Mr. McCartan will be presenting on his journey from Grassroots flying through his appointment as Team USA Captain. He will also share the journey preparing for the World Aerobatic Championships which the Team will be participating, August 2018.
